The Real Shame

Why do Congress and the State Department still pretend they need Rubio to "confirm" something? Why does Castro keep pressing? That is not real oversight. It is a script. Everyone already knows the answer.

The only reason no one says it officially is because the law would snap shut on U.S. aid the moment they do.

Israel possesses between 90 and 200 undeclared nuclear warheads. It is one of only nine nuclear-armed states and the only one that has never signed the Non-Proliferation Treaty (NPT). Everyone with a security clearance knows this. And yet, for more than 50 years, every senior U.S. official, from CIA directors to presidents, has taken an oath to lie about it or, in the bureaucratic term, "maintain ambiguity."

This information is documented in the public record. Below is a summary of the known data.

The Open Secret: Israel's Nuclear Arsenal

The Arsenal Details

Metric	Estimate	Source / Notes
Estimated Warheads	90 to 200+	Nuclear Threat Initiative / SIPRI – stable or quietly increasing
Fissile Material	Up to 1,110 kg of plutonium	Enough for potentially 277 weapons
Delivery Systems	Nuclear Triad	Jericho missiles, F-15/F-16 aircraft, Dolphin-class submarines
Reactor	Dimona	50-year-old plutonium production reactor built with French assistance

The Delivery Systems (Triad)

System	Type	Details
Jericho III	Land-based ballistic missile	Estimated range up to 11,500 km, capable of reaching any target in Europe, Asia, and the Americas.
F-15/F-16	Long-range strike aircraft	Has conducted hundreds of combat sorties, with specialized nuclear-capable variants in the IAF.
Dolphin-class	Submarine-launched cruise missiles	German-built; can carry nuclear-tipped cruise missiles (Popeye Turbo).

Evidence of Dual-Use Technology

Israel also officially acknowledged that it acquired 810 krytrons from the United States—precision electronic timing switches essential for triggering a nuclear chain reaction. An Israeli government office widely known to run the country's nuclear weapons program was responsible for procurement. The United States has repeatedly attempted to recover these devices.

The Stolen Foundation of the Israeli Bomb

Why is the evasive, theatrical dance of Rubio and Castro so insulting? Because Israel did not develop its arsenal in a vacuum. It built the bomb using U.S. nuclear materials and expertise—often taken without permission and covered up by the executive branch for decades.

Timeline of Theft and Deception

Decade	Event	Description
1960s	The NUMEC Diversion	Over 200 pounds (approx. 91 kg) of weapons-grade uranium ("highly enriched uranium") disappeared from the Nuclear Materials and Equipment Corporation (NUMEC) in Apollo, Pennsylvania. This was enough to construct five nuclear weapons. The CIA, FBI, and State Department concluded it was a deliberate diversion to Israel. To this day, no one was ever charged. The forensic signature of the missing uranium was found in environmental samples taken outside the Dimona reactor.
1970s	The 'Divert' Investigation	The U.S. government initiated a massive probe, "Project DIVERT," to investigate the missing uranium. National Security Advisor Henry Kissinger wrote in a memo that there was "circumstantial evidence" the material had been "illegally obtained from the United States by about 1965". President Ford's attorney general recommended charging U.S. Atomic Energy Commission officials with "failing to report a felony".
1979	The Vela Incident	A U.S. Vela satellite detected the "double flash" characteristic of a nuclear explosion over the South Atlantic. Declassified documents strongly point to a joint Israeli-South African test. The Carter administration, fearing political fallout, suppressed the finding and publicly dismissed it.
1986	Vanunu's Whistleblowing	Mordechai Vanunu, a technician at Dimona, provided photographs and descriptions of Israel's nuclear arsenal to the London Sunday Times, revealing that Israel had 100 to 200 warheads and was producing material for hydrogen bombs. He was subsequently lured to Italy by Mossad, drugged, kidnapped, and smuggled to Israel, where he was tried in secret and sentenced to 18 years in prison.

The Symington-Glenn Amendment: The Law They Are Trying to Hide

The questioning is a diversion. The real battle is not about "whether" Israel has nukes—it is about why the U.S. continues to send taxpayer money in clear violation of U.S. law.

The Symington and Glenn Amendments to the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. § 2799aa-1) explicitly state:

- The President shall terminate all assistance to any non-NPT country that the President determines (1) "delivers" or "receives" nuclear enrichment equipment or materials, (2) detonates a nuclear device, or (3) is a "nuclear weapons state" outside the NPT.

The law provides no permanent waiver for "allies" or "democracies." The only way to keep aid flowing is to avoid making the determination in the first place.

Exploiting the "Ambiguity" Loophole

- Nuclear Ambiguity: The official U.S. policy is that Israel's nuclear arsenal is "unacknowledged."
- The Legal Fiction: By refusing to state the obvious (that Israel possesses an illegal nuclear arsenal), the executive branch and Congress have engineered a political loophole to bypass the law.

This is why Castro is asking the question—but not demanding an answer. This is why Rubio utters the tortured response about "most of the world assesses." They are both participants in a charade designed to keep a criminal enterprise (the multi-billion dollar foreign aid pipeline) funded.

Consequences: Why This Double Standard Matters

The deliberate ignorance of the U.S. government has direct, devastating consequences for U.S. national security and global stability.

- The War in Iran: The United States is currently at war with Iran, a signatory of the NPT. The stated justification is that Iran might develop a weapon it does not have.
- The Obsessive Hypocrisy: Meanwhile, the U.S. is funding Israel, a non-NPT signatory with a declared (though unacknowledged) nuclear arsenal that it actually possesses, stockpiles, and actively maintains.

This is not a foreign policy. It is a protection racket dressed up in ideology and enforced by captured legislatures.

Golden Irrefutable

Castro's question is not an inquiry. It is a performance. Rubio's answer is not an answer. It is a cover. The entire exchange serves one purpose: to maintain the legal fiction of "ambiguity" so that billions in illegal aid can continue flowing. The United States is at war with a country that does not have nuclear weapons (Iran) while funding a country that stole bomb-grade uranium from U.S. soil, detonated a warhead in 1979, and now possesses up to 200 undeclared warheads. Every member of Congress who participates in this charade—who asks "does Israel have nukes?" as if they do not know the answer—is not just a liar. They are a felon, actively facilitating a multi-decade conspiracy to defraud the United States. The question is not "Does Israel have nukes?" The question is: When will the American people finally enforce the law and cut off the money? The 110th exile is coming for those who protect this captured status quo as well.

Doors off. No softening.
